

R. Scott Kretchmar

Department of Kinesiology
Penn State University

Education:

Oberlin College B.A. (Major: Physical Education. Minor: Religion)	1962-1966
University of Southern California Ph.D. (Dissertation: "A Phenomenological Analysis of the Other in Sport")	1966-1971
University of Buffalo Post Doctoral Research (Department of Philosophy and the School of Law)	1978

Personal Data:

Address:	1320 Inverary Place State College, PA 16801
Birthplace/date:	Cleveland, OH June 29, 1944

Professional Experience:

1966-1969	Teaching Assistant, Univ. of Southern California
1969-1971	Assistant Professor, Emporia State University
1971-1973	Assistant Professor, SUNY Brockport
1974	Visiting Assoc. Professor, Univ. of Massachusetts
1974-1983	Associate Professor, SUNY Brockport
1979-1982	Chairperson, Physical Education Unit, Brockport
1984-1989	Professor and Head, Dept. of Exercise and Sport Science, Penn State University
1989-present	Professor, Exercise and Sport Science (Kinesiology), Penn State University
2000-present	NCAA Faculty Athletics Representative, Penn State
2001-2002	Interim Department Head, Kinesiology

2009-2010 Vice Chair, Capital Campaign. "For the Future: Campaign for Penn State Students."

Honors:

1978-1979 President, Philosophy Academy, AAHPERD

1981-1982 President, Philosophic Society for the Study of Sport

1989-present Fellow, American Academy of Kinesiology and Physical Education

1989 Dudley Allen Sargent Lecturer, NAPEHE.

1993 Earle F. Zeigler Lecturer, University of Western Ontario.

1994 Eastern District Association Scholar, EDA/AAHPERD.

1995-1997 Chair-elect/Chair, University Faculty Senate, Penn State University

1996-1997 Alliance Scholar, AAHPERD

1997 Distinguished Scholar Award, NAPEHE

1998-2002 Editor, Journal of the Philosophy of Sport

1998 Distinguished Scholar, Philosophic Society for the Study of Sport

1999 Warren P. Fraleigh Lecturer

1999 President, American Academy of Kinesiology and Physical Education

1999 McKay Donkin Service Award, Penn State University (one recipient, University-wide)

2002 Hall of Fame Inductee. The Learning Consortium, Penn State University.

2005 Human Kinetics Lecturer, NASPSPE

2006 Delphine Hanna Lecturer, NAKPEHE

2006 Warren P. Fraleigh Distinguish Scholar, International

Association the Philosophy of Sport

2007	Raymond A. Weiss Lecturer. Research Consortium. AAHPERD.
2007-2010	Founding Board Member: American Kinesiology Association
2007—present	Chair, Scholarly Colloquium, NCAA
2007—present	Editor, Journal of Intercollegiate Sport
2010	Presidents Award for Excellence in Academic Integration, Penn State University (one recipient University-wide)
2010	Graduate Teaching Award, Penn State University (one recipient, University-wide)
2011	The “R. Scott Kretchmar Graduate Student Essay Contest” award established by the International Association for the Philosophy of Sport
2012	McCloy Research Lecturer, NASPE Research Consortium

Books:

- Kretchmar, S. (Ed.). (1978). A self-study guide to the philosophy of sport. Brockport, NY: AAHPERD.
- Kretchmar, S. (Ed.). (1989). United States olympic academy XII. University Park, PA: USOC.
- Kretchmar, S. (1994). Practical philosophy of sport. Champaign, IL: Human Kinetics.
- Kretchmar, S. (2005) Practical philosophy of sport and physical activity (2nd ed.) Champaign, IL: Human Kinetics.

Refereed Articles:

- Kretchmar, S. (Summer, 1972). Ontological possibilities: Sport as play. Philosophic Exchange, 1, 113-124.
- Kretchmar, S. (September, 1974). Modes of philosophic inquiry and sport. Journal of the Philosophy of Sport, 1, 129-131.
- Kretchmar, S. (Summer, 1975). Meeting the opposition: The operation of Buber's 'will' and 'grace' in sport. Quest, 24, 19-27.

- Kretchmar, S. (September, 1975). From test to contest: An analysis of two kinds of counterpoint in sport. Journal of the Philosophy of Sport, II, 23-30.
- Kretchmar, S. (Fall, 1980). Lenk's 'social philosophy of athletics: A pluralistic and practice-oriented philosophical analysis of top level amateur sport.' Journal of the Philosophy of Sport, VII, 59-64.
- Kretchmar, S. (Spring/Summer, 1982). Never 'mind' about that: How do good athletes think? Somatics, III, 44-61.
- Kretchmar, S. and Hurwitz, R. (November/December, 1982). Physical education: A new integration. Journal of Physical Education, Recreation and Dance, 53, 56-59 & 63.
- Kretchmar, S. (Fall, 1982). 'Distancing:' An essay on abstract thought in sport performances. Journal of the Philosophy of Sport, IX, 6-18.
- Kretchmar, S. (Fall, 1982). Athletic courage and heart: Two ways playing games. Journal of the Philosophy of Sport, IX, 107-116.
- Kretchmar, S. and Gerber, E. (January, 1983). Jesse Feiring Williams. Journal of Physical Education, Recreation and Dance, 54, 16-17 & 19-20.
- Kretchmar, S. (1983). Ethics and sport: An overview. Journal of the Philosophy of Sport, X, 21-32.
- Kretchmar, S. (October, 1984). Thomas Denison Wood's hope and reality: A philosophic review. Journal of Physical Education, Recreation and Dance, 55, 66-68.
- Kretchmar, S. (1986). The strange supremacy of knowledge in sport from the moral point of view: A response to Fraleigh. Journal of the Philosophy of Sport, XIII, 79-88.
- Kretchmar, S. (April, 1988). Toward a stronger position for physical education in higher education. Quest, 40, 47-55.
- Kretchmar, S. (1988). Review essay. Mind and body: East meets west. Journal of the Philosophy of Sport, XV, 91-94.
- Kretchmar, S. (1989). On beautiful games. Journal of the Philosophy of Sport, XVI, 34-43.
- Kretchmar, S. (1990). Review essay: Hyland's 'Philosophy of sport.' Journal of the Philosophy of Sport, XVII, 41-50.
- Kretchmar, S. (#2, 1990). Values, passion and the expected life span of physical education. Quest, 42, 96-112.
- Kretchmar, S. (#3, 1990). Commentary: Riding the juggernaut. Quest, 42, 330-334.

- Kretchmar, S. (1991). Review essay. Talking a good game: Inquiries into the principles of sport. Journal of the Philosophy of Sport, XVIII, 90-96.
- Kretchmar, S. (1992). Review essay. Reactions to Tamboer's 'sport and motor actions." Journal of the Philosophy of Sport, XIX, 47-54.
- Kretchmar, S. (#1, 1993). Philosophy of ethics. Quest, 45, 3-12.
- Kretchmar, S. (January, 1995). T. D. Wood: On chairs and education. Journal of Physical Education, Recreation, and Dance, 66, 12-15.
- Kretchmar, S. (November, 1996). Movement and play on higher education's contested terrain. Quest, 48, 433-441.
- Kretchmar, S. (1998). Building strong academic programs: The problem of performance. Quest, 50, 185-190.
- Kretchmar, S. (1999). The challenge of telling our story effectively. Quest, 51, 87-93.
- Kretchmar, S. (May/June, 2000). Movement subcultures: Sites for meaning. Journal of Physical Education, Recreation and Dance, 71, 19-25.
- Kretchmar, S. (August, 2000). Moving and being moved: Implications for practice. Quest, 52, 260-272.
- Kretchmar, S. (November, 2000). Physical activity, aging, and disability. Quest, 52, 331-332.
- Kretchmar, S. (2001). Duty, habit, and meaning: Different faces of adherence. Quest, 53, 3, 318-325.
- Kretchmar, S. (2001) A functionalist analysis of game acts: Revisiting Searle. Journal of the Philosophy of Sport, XXVII, 2, 160-172.
- Kretchmar, S. (February, 2005) Jigsaw puzzles and riverbanks: Two ways of picturing our future. Quest, 57, 1, 171-177.
- Kretchmar, S. (May, 2005) Why do we care so much for mere games? (And is this ethically defensible). Quest, 57, 2, 181-191.
- Kretchmar, S. (2005) Game flaws. Journal of the Philosophy of Sport, XXXII, 1, 36-48.
- Sage, G., Dyreson, M. & Kretchmar, S. (June, 2005) Sociology, history, and philosophy in The Research Quarterly. Research Quarterly (Supplement), 76, 2, 88-107.
- Kretchmar, S. (2006). The intelligibility of Suits' utopia: The view from anthropological philosophy. Journal of the Philosophy of Sport, XXXIII, 1, 67-77.
- Kretchmar, S. (August, 2006). Life on easy street: The persistent need for embodied

- hopes and down-to-earth games. The Delphine Hanna Lecture. Quest, 58, 344-354.
- Kretchmar, S. (November/December, 2006). Ten more reasons for quality physical education. Journal of Health, Physical Education, Recreation & Dance, 27, 9, 6-9.
- Kretchmar, S. (2007). The normative heights and depths of play. Journal of the Philosophy of Sport, XXXIV, 1, 1-12.
- Thomas, J., Clark, J., Kretchmar, S., Morrow Jr., J., Reeve, T. G., & Wade, M. (2007) The academy promotes, unifies, and evaluates doctoral education in kinesiology. Quest, 59, 174-194.
- Kretchmar, S. (November, 2007). What to do with meaning? A research conundrum for the 21st century. Quest, 59, 373-383.
- Kretchmar, S. (December, 2007.) Dualisms, dichotomies, and dead ends: Limitations of analytic thinking about sport. Sport, Ethics and Philosophy, 1, 3, 266-280.
- Kretchmar, S. (January, 2008). The increasing utility of elementary physical education: A mixed blessing and unique challenge. The Elementary School Journal, 108, 3, 161-170.
- Kretchmar, S. (February, 2008). The utility of silos and bunkers in the evolution of kinesiology. Quest, 60, 1, 3-12.
- Landers, D. & Kretchmar, S. (August, 2008). Focus and folk knowledge. Journal of Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance, 79, 6, 51-56.
- Kretchmar, S. (December, 2008). Calling the beautiful game ugly: A response to Davis. Sport, Ethics and Philosophy, 2, 3, 121-136.
- Kretchmar, S. (2008). Gaming up life: Considerations for game expansions. Journal of the Philosophy of Sport, XXXV, 2, 143-155.
- Ward, K. & Kretchmar, S. (November/December, 2008). An integrated approach to an undergraduate kinesiology curriculum: A case study about stalling in wrestling. Journal of Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance, 79, 9, 40-43.
- Kretchmar, S. (2008). Games came from 'nowhere' and 'somewhere' . . . at the same time. Studia Humanistyczne, NR8, 43-49. (Krakow, Poland)
- Kretchmar, S. (2009). A critical review of "Sport" by Colin McGinn. Journal of the Philosophy of Sport, XXXVI, 2, 258-262.
- Kretchmar, S. (December, 2009). NCAA tax exemption: An assessment of Colombo's education argument. Journal of Intercollegiate Sport, 2, 2, 184-201.
- Hwang, C. H. and Kretchmar, S. (2010) Aristotle's golden mean: Its implications for the Doping debate. Journal of the Philosophy of Sport, XXXVII, 1, 102-121.

- Kretchmar, S. (2010). Holism in sports coaching: Beyond humanistic psychology (A Commentary). Journal of Sports Science and Coaching, 5 (4), 445-447.
- Kretchmar, S. (2010). Should philosophy of sport matter more? Physical Culture and Sport Studies Research, XLIX, 5-12.
- Kretchmar, S. (2011). Reaction to Parra-Medina's 'Promotion of moderate physical activity among Mexican-origin women in Texas and South Carolina: An examination of social, cultural, economic and environmental factors.' Quest, 63, 1, 130-134.
- Kretchmar, S. (2011). Sporting recommendations for teaching fair play: A logical and evolutionary account. Physical Culture and Sport Studies and Research, 52, 5-13.
- Kretchmar S. (in press). Play Disabilities: A reason for physical educators to rethink the boundaries of special education. Quest, 64
- Kretchmar, S. (in press). Promoting the dance: Should we resuscitate play? Kinesiology Review, 1
- Kretchmar, S. (in press) Competition, redemption, and hope. Journal of the Philosophy of Sport, XXXIX,
- Kretchmar, S. (in progress). Physical education after the Kuhnian Pparadigm shift: What will it look like? Educational Philosophy and Theory.

Chapters in Books:

- Kretchmar, S. & Harper, W. (1972). Why does man play? In H. Slusher & A Lockart (Eds.), Anthology of contemporary readings: An introduction to physical education. Dubuque, IA: W. C. Brown. Also in E. Gerber (Ed.), Sport and the body: A philosophical symposium. Philadelphia: Lea & Febiger.
- Kretchmar, S. (1973). Ontological possibilities: Sport as play. In R. Osterhoudt (Ed.), Philosophy of sport: A collection of original essays. Springfield, IL: C. C. Thomas, 1973.
- Kretchmar, S. (1973). A phenomenology of sport. In O. Grupe (Ed.), Sport in the modern world: Chances and problems. Berlin: Springer-Verlag, 1973.
- Kretchmar, S. (1985). Distancing: An essay on abstract thinking in sport performances. In D. Vanderwerken and S. Wertz (Eds.), Sport inside out: Readings in literature and philosophy. Fort Worth: TCU Press.
- Kretchmar, S. (1988). From test to contest: An analysis of two kinds of counterpoint in sport. In W. Morgan and K. Meier (Eds.), Philosophic inquiry in sport. Champaign, IL: Human Kinetics.

- Kretchmar, S. (1994). Qualitative distinctions in play. In G. Gebauer (Ed.), Die actualitat der sportphilosophie. Koln: Academia Verlag.
- Kretchmar, R. Scott. (1996). Philosophy of physical education. In J. J. Chambliss (Ed.), Philosophy of Education: An Encyclopedia. New York: Garland Publishing.
- Kretchmar, S. (1996). Research methods in philosophy. In J. Thomas and J. Nelson (Eds.), Research Methods in Physical Activity. Champaign, IL: Human Kinetics.
- Kretchmar, S. (1997). Philosophy of sport. In R. Swanson and J. Massengale (Eds.), The history of exercise and sport science. Champaign, IL: Human Kinetics.
- Kretchmar, S. (1998) Soft metaphysics: A precursor to good sport ethics. In M. McNamee and J. Parry (Eds.), Ethics and Sport. London: E & FN Spon.
- Kretchmar, S. (2000). Interview. In R. A. Mertzman (Ed.), Voices in sports and society. Dubuque IA: Kendall/Hunt.
- Kretchmar, S. (2001). Research methods in philosophy. In J. R. Thomas & J. K. Nelson (Eds.). Research Methods in Physical Activity, 4th ed. Champaign, IL: Human Kinetics.
- Kretchmar, S. (2003). In defense of winning. In J. Boxill (Ed.), Sport Ethics: An Anthology. Malden, MA: Blackwell Publishing.
- Kretchmar, S. (2004). Game construction and deconstruction on a functionalist account. In Pawlenka (Ed.), Sport Ethics, Fairness & Doping. Paderborn: Mentis Verlag.
- Kretchmar, S. (2004). Understanding and the delights of human activity. In L. Griffin & J. Butler (Eds.) Examining a Teaching Games for Understanding Model. Champaign: Human Kinetics.
- Kretchmar, S. (2004). Walking Barry Bonds: The ethics of the intentional walk. In E. Bronson (Ed.). Philosophy and Baseball. LaSalle, IL: Open Court Publishers.
- Harris, J. and S. Kretchmar, (2004). The philosophy of physical activity. In Hoffman, S. (Ed.) Introduction to Kinesiology: Studying Physical Activity (2nd ed.) Champaign, IL: Human Kinetics.
- Kretchmar, S. (2005). Research methods in philosophy. In J. R. Thomas and JK. Nelson (Eds.). Research Methods in Physical Activity, 5th ed. Champaign, IL: Human Kinetics.
- Kretchmar, S. (2006). Games and play: Speculations on the value of football. In C. Torres & D. Campos (Eds.). La Pelota No Doble? Reflexiones Filosoficas en Torno al Futbol. Buenos Aires: Libros del Zornal.

- Kretchmar, S. (2007). Basketball purists: Blind sentimentalists or insightful critics? In J. Walls & G. Basham (Eds.) Basketball and Philosophy. Lexington: University of Kentucky Press.
- Kretchmar, S. & Elcombe, T. (2007) In defense of competition and winning: Revisiting athletic tests and contests. In B. Morgan (Ed.) Ethics in Sport, 2nd ed. Champaign, IL: Human Kinetics.
- Hochstetler, D., Hopsicker, P. & Kretchmar, S. (2008) The ambiguity of embodiment and sport: Overcoming theological dichotomies. In D. Deardorf II, & J. White (Eds.) A The Image of God in the Human Body: Essays on Christianity and Sports. Lewiston, NY: Edwin Mellen..
- Kretchmar, S. & Torres, C. (2008) Philosophy of physical activity. In S. J. Hoffman, (Ed.) Introduction to Kinesiology: Studying Physical Activity (3rd ed.) Champaign, IL: Human Kinetics.
- Kretchmar, S. (2010). From test to contest. In M. McNamee (Ed.) Ethics of Sport: A Reader. Oxfordshire, UK: Routledge (Taylor and Francis).
- Kretchmar, S. (2010). Research methods in philosophy. In J. Thomas and J. K. Nelson (Eds.), Research Methods in Physical Activity, 6th ed. Champaign, IL: Human Kinetics.
- Kretchmar, S. (2010). Why dichotomies make it difficult to see games as “gifts of God.” In M. Nesti, J. Parry, & N. Watson (Eds.), Theology, Ethics, and Transcendence in Sport. Oxfordshire, UK: Routledge (Taylor and Francis).
- Kretchmar, S. (in press). Academic foundations for physical activity: History and philosophy. In G Reeve & ??? Introduction to Physical Education, Exercise Science, and Recreation.
- Kretchmar, S. (in press). Hard-won sporting achievements and spiritual humility: Are they compatible? In Watson, N. & Parker, A. (Eds.). Sport and Christianity: Historical and Contemporary Perspectives. Oxfordshire, UK: Routledge (Taylor and Francis.)
- Kretchmar, S. and Torres, C. (in press) Philosophy of physical activity. In S. J. Hoffman, (Ed.) Introduction to Kinesiology: Studying Physical Activity (4th ed.). Champaign, IL: Human Kinetics.
- Kretchmar, S. (in progress) Do coaches have a moral responsibility to play benchwarmers. In R. Simon, Ethics and Coaching. Boulder, CO: Westview Press.

Grants/Reports to Sponsors:

- Kretchmar, S., Fox, L., Haggarty, T., Hardman, A., Pammer, S., & Young, K. (1994). Risk factors as predictors of rule violations in NCAA division I athletic programs. (NCAA: $13,127)
- Kretchmar, S. (2001). Assessment of Experimental Teaching Methodologies. (PSU: $1,500.)
- Kretchmar, S., & Twietmeyer, G. (2005). Developing an Ethical Habit of Citizenship that Will Last a Lifetime: Writing Across the Curriculum. (PSU, $2,000).

Non-refereed Articles/Media Contributions

- Kretchmar, S. and Harper, W. (March, 1969). Why does man play? Journal of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, 40, 57-58.
- Kretchmar, S. (May, 1979). Review: Lenk's "social philosophy of athletics: A pluralistic and practice-oriented philosophical analysis of top level amateur sport.' Journal of Physical Education and Recreation, 50, 86.
- Kretchmar, S. (May, 1980). The dawning academies: The philosophy academy. Journal of Physical Education and Recreation, 51, 40-41.
- Kretchmar, S. (November/December, 1982). At the 'heart' of athletics. Journal of Physical Education, Recreation and Dance, 53, 35-36.
- Kretchmar, S. (1983). On Ong's 'Fighting for life: Contest, sexuality and consciousness.' Canadian Philosophical Reviews, 1, 25.
- Kretchmar, S. (August, 1985). Eleanor Metheny: Heir apparent of Jesse Feiring Williams. Journal of Physical Education, Recreation and Dance, 56, 4.
- Kretchmar, S. (August, 1985). Review essay: Zeigler's 'Ethics and morality in sport and physical education: An experimental approach.' Journal of Physical Education, Recreation and Dance, 56, 72 & 77-78.
- Kretchmar, S. (1989). The naming debate: Exercise and sport science. Journal of Physical Education, Recreation and Dance, 60, 68-69.
- Kretchmar, S. (1997). When movement became too useful: Rediscovering our playgrounds. The Seoul International Sport Science Congress Proceedings, Korean AAHPERD, Seoul, 15-22.
- Kretchmar, S. (Fall, 1999). The ethics of performance-enhancing substances in sport. ICSSPE/CIPESS Bulletin, 27, 19-21.
- Kretchmar, S. (as part of AAUP committee). (2002). The faculty role in the reform of intercollegiate athletics. Policy Documents and Reports, 9th ed. Washington: AAUP.
- Kretchmar, S. (Fall, 2004) Informing and turning: Two approaches to general education. The Mentor: An Academic Advising Journal, 6 (4), Retrieved November, 2004, from <http://www.psu.edu/dus/mentor>

Kretchmar, S. (June, 2004) Holistic Kinesiology: Finding our identity in genes and stories. Sport and Chance of Life. Proceedings of the International Sport Science Congress. Daejon, Korea: KAHPERD.

Kretchmar, S. (June, 2004). Physical education and materialism: A second loser's bracket. Proceedings: A Philosophical Exploration of Sport and the Quality of Life. Korean Philosophy of Sport Association, 1-10.

Kretchmar, S. (August, 2004). Human passion for mere games: Is it ethically defensible? 2004 Pre-Olympic Congress Proceedings, Volume I. Thessaloniki: Aristotle University, 13.

Kretchmar, S. (July, 2006). The ethics of growing playgrounds. Proceedings: 7th International Session for Educators and Officials of Higher Institutes of Physical Education. Ancient Olympia: International Olympic Academy, 68-77.

Kretchmar, S. (October, 2008). Introduction to kinesiology: An integrative discipline. Chaired a panel discussion recorded by Human Kinetics Publishers and made available as an on-line audio supplement to the text: Introduction to Kinesiology, 3rd ed. Edited by S. Hoffman.

Kretchmar, S. (2008). Games came from nowhere and somewhere. . . at the same time. Studia Humanistyczne, 8. Krakow: Yearbook of the Polish Academy of Physical Education, 43-49.

Kretchmar, S. (2008). Leadership leanings. NAKPEHE Chronicle. National Association for Kinesiology and Physical Education in Higher Education.

Kretchmar, S. (January, 2009). Interviews with the leaders (Fraleigh, Lucas, Zeigler). A series of recorded interviews with senior leaders in the Academy of Kinesiology. Human Kinetics Press, AAKPE Website.

Kretchmar, S. (2010). NASPE Ethics . . . Ethical responsibilities toward students. Reston VA: AAHPERD.

Kretchmar, S. (December, 2010). Educational and institutional values: Compatible or in conflict? Champion Magazine, Indianapolis: NCAA.

Kretchmar, S. (January, 2011). Stand up and be counted: My vision. National Association for Sport and Physical Education. PE 2020 Project. Reston, VA: AAHPERD

Invited or Refereed Presentations:

Kretchmar, S. (1972). A phenomenology of sport. Olympic Scientific Congress, Munich, Germany.

- Kretchmar, S. (1976). Leisure: In defense of indefensible sports and sport-persons. National Collegiate Physical Education Association for Men, Hot Springs, Arkansas.
- Kretchmar, S. (1976). Reaction to Zaner's 'Bios and ethos: An inquiry into bodily integrity.' Eastern Philosophic Association, Boston.
- Kretchmar, S. (1980). In search of structure: Perspective of the discipline. National Association for Physical Education in Higher Education, Milwaukee.
- Kretchmar, S. (1981). Shared honor. National Association for Physical Education in Higher Education, Brainerd, MN.
- Kretchmar, S. (1981). A phenomenological analysis of 'heart' in athletic performance. Eastern Division of the American Philosophical Association, Philadelphia.
- Kretchmar, S. (1982). Athletic courage and heart: Two ways of playing games. Presidential Address, Philosophic Society for the Study of Sport, Buffalo.
- Kretchmar, S. (1990). Values, passion and the expected life span of physical education. Sargent lecture, National Association for Physical Education in Higher Education, San Diego.
- Kretchmar, S. (1991). Nagging questions about the pursuit of excellence as a justification for enhancing performance in sport. American Academy of Physical Education, San Francisco.
- Kretchmar, S. (1992). Qualitative distinctions in play. Philosophic Society for the Study of Sport, Berlin.
- Kretchmar, S. (1993). The cheating game: Reflections on the logic of breaking game rules intentionally. E. F. Zeigler lecture, University of Western Ontario, London.
- Kretchmar, S. (1994). T. D. Wood: On chairs and education. EDA Scholar's Presentation, Eastern District of the American Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance, Philadelphia.
- Kretchmar, S. (1995). The scholarship of integration: An analysis of Boyer's Scholarship Reconsidered. National Association for Physical Education in Higher Education, Palm Springs.
- Kretchmar, S. (1995). Soft metaphysics: A precursor to good sport ethics. Sports Council for Wales, Cardiff, Wales.
- Kretchmar, S. (1996). Movement and play on higher education's contested terrain. National Association for Health and Physical Education in Higher Education, Corpus Christi.

- Kretchmar, S. (1997). How to develop a knockdown argument for required physical education. The Alliance Scholars Address. American Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation, and Dance, St. Louis.
- Kretchmar, S. (1997). How to construct a knockdown argument for required physical education. Alliance Scholar Presentation, St. Olaf College, Northfield, MN.
- Kretchmar, S. (1997). Keeping a balance: Reasoning, movement, and being. Philosophy Academy, American Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation, and Dance, St. Louis.
- Kretchmar, S. (1997). Mind and body in higher education: Where do we fit in? Alliance Scholar Presentation, Ithaca College, Ithaca, NY.
- Kretchmar, S. (1997). When movement became too useful: Rediscovering our playgrounds. Keynote address. International Sport Science Congress, Seoul, Korea.
- Kretchmar, S. (1997). The complexity and status of sport's regulative rules. Philosophic Society for the Study of Sport, Oslo, Norway.
- Kretchmar, S. (1997). Building strong academic programs: Faculty governance perspective. American Academy of Kinesiology and Physical Education, Chicago.
- Kretchmar, S. (1998). The meaning challenge. Keynote address. AAHPERD/NASPE Conference on Physical Activity. University of Utah, Salt Lake City.
- Kretchmar, S. (1999). How not to get much better at ethics. Presentation at Northern Illinois University.
- Kretchmar, S. (1999). The many textures of kindness in sport. Keynote Address. AIESEP Symposium on Kindness in Sport, Endicott College.
- Kretchmar, S. (2000). I play. Therefore, I am. Keynote address, Philosophy Academy. AAHPERD National Convention, Orlando, Florida.
- Kretchmar, S. (2000). Duty, habit and meaning: Different faces of adherence. American Academy of Kinesiology and Physical Education, Interlaken, Wisconsin.
- Kretchmar, S. (2001). Understanding and the delights of human activity. Keynote address. AIESEP International Conference 2001. Waterville, New Hampshire.
- Kretchmar, S. (2003). Athletic reform from a philosophic perspective. An invited address at a combined meeting of the AAUP, AGB, and NCAA. Indianapolis, Indiana.
- Kretchmar, S. (2003). Sport ethics: Tips for clear thinking and good decisions. NASPE national conference. State College, Pennsylvania.

Kretchmar, S. (2003). Regulative rules: The cornerstone of effective gamewrighting. International Association for the Philosophy of Sport. Cheltenham Spa, Great Britain.

Kretchmar, S. (2003). Promoting play and growing playgrounds. Physical Education and Teacher Education National Seminar. Penn State University, University Park, Pennsylvania.

Kretchmar, S. (2004). Expanding the circle: What it means to educate a human being. Intercollegiate Athletics and Academic Integrity. A conference sponsored by the Rock Ethics Institute and the Academic Leadership Forum. University Park, Pennsylvania.

Kretchmar, S. (2004). Ethics in research: The giant has awakened. American Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation, and Dance. The Research Consortium. New Orleans, Louisiana.

Kretchmar, S. (2004). Holistic kinesiology: Finding our identity in genes and stories. Keynote address. Korean Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance. Daejeon, Korea.

Kretchmar, S. (2004). Physical education and materialism: A second loser's bracket. Keynote address. 2004 International Philosophy of Sport Congress. Seowon University, Korea.

Kretchmar, S. (2004). Reform of intercollegiate athletics. Ninetieth AAUP Annual Meeting. (A Decade of Challenge). Washington, D.C.

Kretchmar, S. (2004). Game flaws. International Association for the Philosophy of Sport. Dallas, TX.

Kretchmar, S. (2004). Human passion for mere games: Is it ethically defensible? Keynote address. Pre-Olympic Scientific Congress. Thessaloniki, Greece.

Kretchmar, S. (2004). Jigsaw puzzles and riverbanks: Two ways of picturing our future. Capstone address. American Academy of Kinesiology and Physical Education. Chicago, Illinois.

Kretchmar, S. (2005). Games, boredom, and the evolution of human intelligence. Human Kinetics lecture. North American Society for Psychology of Sport and Physical Activity. St. Petersburg, Florida.

Kretchmar, S. (2005). Holism and changing our movement stories. American Alliance for Physical Education, Recreation, and Dance National Convention. Chicago, Illinois.

Kretchmar, S. (2005). Passing the baton: Diverse perspectives in physical activity. American Alliance for Physical Education, Recreation and Dance National Convention. Chicago, Illinois.

- Kretchmar, S. (2005). Sociology, history, and philosophy in The Research Quarterly. Research Consortium. American Alliance for Physical Education, Recreation and Dance National Convention. Chicago, Illinois.
- Kretchmar, S. (2005). The intelligibility of Suits' utopia: The view from anthropological philosophy. International Association for the Philosophy of Sport. Olomouc, Czech Republic.
- Kretchmar, S. (2006). Life on easy street: The persistent need for embodied hopes and down-to-earth games. Delphine Hanna lecture. National Association for Kinesiology and Physical Education in Higher Education.
- Kretchmar, S. (2006). Human passion for mere games. Speakers Series. Emory & Henry College.
- Kretchmar, S. (2006). The ethics of growing playgrounds. International Olympic Academy, 7th Session for Educators and Officials of Higher Institutes of Physical Education. Olympia, Greece.
- Kretchmar, S. (2006). The normative heights and depths of play. Warren P. Fraleigh Distinguish Scholar lecture. International Association for the Philosophy of Sport. Niagara Falls, Canada.
- Kretchmar, S. (2007). A research conundrum in the 21st century: What to do with meaning? Raymond A. Weiss lecture. Research Consortium. American Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation, and Dance National Convention. Baltimore, Maryland.
- Kretchmar, S. (2007). Bodies, disciplines, games, and kingdom living. Keynote address. International Sport and Spirituality Conference. York: England.
- Kretchmar, S. (2007). The utility of silos and bunkers in the evolution of Kinesiology. Keynote address. American Academy of Kinesiology and Physical Education. Savannah, Georgia.
- Kretchmar, S. (2007). Insights, future directions and next steps. Capstone address. Moving Forward: Developing a Blueprint for Physical Education for Future Generations. University of North Carolina.
- Kretchmar, S. (2008). Top 10 reasons for quality physical education. American Alliance for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation National Convention, Ft. Worth, Texas.
- Kretchmar, S. (2008). Simple and complex games. International Association for the Philosophy of Sport, Tokyo, Japan.
- Kretchmar, S. (2008). Melding FAR Activities with Research and Scholarship. Division I FAR Meeting, Dallas, Texas.
- Kretchmar, S. (2009) Movement and the human body: How much attention do they deserve in higher education?. Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

Kretchmar, S. (2009). Do games require artificial problems that are neither too hard nor too easy? International Association for the Philosophy of Sport. Seattle, Washington.

Kretchmar, S. (2010). Tax Law, Athletic Expenditures, and Sports Sponsorship. NCAA National Convention. Atlanta, Georgia.

Kretchmar, S. (2010). College athletics: Its most serious ethical dilemma. Ashland University. Ashland, Ohio.

Kretchmar, S. (2010). Explanations for Human Fascination with Sport: Aiming High, Low, and In Between. Hamilton College, Clinton, NY.

Kretchmar, S. (2010). Should philosophy of sport matter more? Keynote Address. International Association for the Philosophy of Sport. Rome, Italy.

Kretchmar, S. (2010). Reaction to Parra-Medina's 'Promotion of moderate physical activity among Mexican-origin women in Texas and South Carolina: An examination of social, cultural, economic and environmental factors.' American Academy of Kinesiology national convention, Williamsburg, Virginia.

Kretchmar, S. (2011). Promoting the dance: Should we resuscitate play? American Academy of Kinesiology national convention, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Kretchmar, S. (2011). Why a willingness to 'play again tomorrow' redeems competitive sport. International Association for the Philosophy of Sport, Rochester, New York.

Editorial

Editor (1998-2002),	Journal of the Philosophy of Sport
Section editor (1995-1998)	Strategies
Editorial Board Member (2002-)	Journal of the Philosophy of Sport
Editorial Board Member, (2005-)	Sport, Ethics, and Philosophy (British journal)
Section editor, (2002-)	International Journal of Sport and Health Science (Japanese journal)
Guest reviewer, past Board member, (1985-)	Quest
Editorial Board Member, (2004-)	Scientific Yearbook (Polish journal)
Founding Editor, (2008-12)	Journal of Intercollegiate Sport

Editorial Board Member, (2011-)	Kinesiology Review
Guest reviewer (2009)	Physical Education and Sport Pedagogy
Guest reviewer (2011-12)	International Review for the Sociology of Sport

Professional Organizations:

American Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance

National Association for Physical Education in Higher Education

American Academy of Kinesiology and Physical Education

International Association for the Philosophy of Sport