Health and Physical Education

Required Work Experience for HPE Emphasis

Rationale

Future teachers must be familiar with the characteristics of learners from various cultural, social and ethnic backgrounds. Therefore, through volunteer or paid experiences in education settings such as day care centers, public and private school classrooms, summer camps, and other youth groups, prospective teachers must interact with learners of the age group they plan to teach.

This work with “age-appropriate” learners promotes an understanding of teaching-learning processes, contributes to sound decision-making about academic and career goals, and helps prepare educators for their work with diverse learners. Documentation of these activities contributes to a professional portfolio valued by employers.

Requirement

Criteria for admission to the HPE Emphasis includes documentation of 40 hours of prior work experience (paid or volunteer) in educational settings, which could include day care centers, public or private school classrooms, volunteer tutoring, summer camps, and other community youth programs. At least 20 of these age-appropriate 40 hours must be with majority of learners whose cultural, social, or ethnic backgrounds differ from the candidate’s own. Experiences with special learners are strongly recommended.

Implementation

These early teaching experiences may occur before or after a student matriculates at Penn State. All experiences must be documented by the end of the spring semester prior to formal application to the HPE Emphasis.

Experiences with young children engaged in meaningful learning activities such as work in a day care setting are appropriate, yet routine “baby-sitting” is not. Community and campus jobs, summer camps, etc., with youngsters who are of the age or exceptionality you plan to teach once certified, are also appropriate.

Education Work Experience Documentation Form (inside panel)

This is used to document these early teaching-learning, “age-appropriate” experiences. The student ensures that the completed form, with supervisor’s verification, is returned to Penn State so that the student’s academic record will reflect those hours accepted by the academic department. (Students should keep a copy of the completed form). Multiple forms, available from advisers, may be needed for multiple experiences.

You, as the prospective teacher, complete sections 1-12 of the form. [PLEASE PRINT.] Then you ask the person who supervised the education work experiences to verify the information, and mail this form immediately. (Remember to provide self-addressed, stamped envelope). Note that it is your responsibility, not the supervisor’s, to ensure that this form reaches us.

Questions?

Please contact academic advisers or administrators representing the teacher preparation programs. General inquiries about teacher education at Penn State may be directed to the Advising and Certification Center at (814) 865-0488, <<http://www.ed.psu.edu>>.
